TORNADOES IN 4 STATES KILL 175

Ohio, Indiana, Joining Forces In Fight Against Anthrax

Last Month Has Seen 33 Counties Hit

8 Indiana Counties Also Report Disease Has Felled Livestock

COLUMBUS, March 22 — (AP)—Ohio and Indiana health and veterinary officials have joined forces for a joint assault on anthrax—the disease that has killed more than 200 animals in both states.

Anthrax has been reported in 33 Ohio counties, with latest animal deaths being on farms in Marion, Putnam, Auglaize and Union counties. It has broken out on 102 farms. All but four Ohio anthrax deaths were hogs. Anthrax-killed cattle were on farms in Fulton, Clermont and Madison counties.

Anthrax has reached into at least eight Indiana counties, six in the east central portion near the Ohio border. Seven Indiana hogs have died.

Dr. Harry G. Geyer, chief of the Ohio Bureau of Animal Industry, met Friday in Richmond, Ind., with Dr. Roy Elrod, Indiana state veterinarian, to plan the joint fight on anthrax.

"I was very well pleased with results of the meeting," Geyer said.

Ohio Agriculture Director H. S. Foust said there is one possible case of anthrax in a cow in Indiana.

Foust said that in each instance the diseased Ohio cattle had been fed products of animal origin, such as tankage, meat scraps and certain imported bone meal, which has been under suspicion of being a carrier of the anthrax germ.

"We are issuing a warning to farmers who have cattle in their feed lots for fattening and also to farmers with dairy herds who may be using these products that they discontinue using them until further investigation and tests have been made and confirmed," Foust said.

State officials have named a Columbus manufacturing plant as having had contaminated feed.

They have linked this feed with infection on many of the farms, now quarantined, in Ohio. A lengthy series of tests on feed manufactured by this firm is underway.

Officials still are trying to determine whether the disease originated in bone meal imported from abroad.

Geyer said he and the Indiana officials agreed to exchange information on all phases of the investigation of the origin of the disease. Indiana will make available to (Continued on Page Two)

Another Korea Seen Possible In Indochina

WASHINGTON, March 22 — (AP)—Official disclosure that Chinese Communist forces are in French Indochina have raised congressional questions whether the Chinese are preparing for "another Korea."

But top Pentagon sources and French officials in Paris and Saigon quickly denied that Red fighting forces have crossed the Indochina border. Pentagon sources say some arms supply officers and truck drivers probably have—a far less serious situation.

A report from Saigon said reliable sources estimate 6,000 to 10,000 military advisers and technicians from Red China are making a "slow invasion" of Indochina.

The impression both here and abroad that fighting forces had crossed into Indochina stemmed from testimony by Defense Secretary Lovett before the House Foreign Affairs Committee Friday and from a statement by Secretary of State Acheson before the same group Thursday.

Lovett, appearing to testify in favor of President Truman's $7.9 billion foreign aid bill, said "some" Chinese forces had been in bloody Indochina "for some time."

Acheson the day before said "I believe some Chinese nationals are involved in the fighting in Indochina."

3 Million Barrels Oil Pour Out Of Ohio Wells During 1951

COLUMBUS, March 22 — (AP)—More than three million barrels of oil were produced in Ohio during 1951.

State Commerce Director W. Harper Ann reported the oil came from 43,211 producing wells. During the year, 315 new oil wells were found with an initial production of 7,291 barrels. Seventy-one combination oil and gas wells were drilled successfully in 15 counties. They yielded more than 21 million cubic feet of gas and 2,665 barrels of oil.

These and other statistics on Ohio's gas and oil wells were contained in a report submitted to the Interstate Oil Company Commission in Oklahoma City. Annat is Ohio's representative on the commission.

As of last Dec. 31, Ohio had 7,300 producing gas wells. Results from gas well drilling during the year "continued to be discouraging," the report stated, with only two really important discoveries.

THESE WERE within the city limits of Wooster and in Belpre and in Washington County. In Wooster, the United Steel Fabricators gas well struck in excess of three million cubic feet in Clinton Sand at a depth of 3,200 feet. Six offset wells completed early this year resulted in five dry holes and one producing well with an initial production of about four million cubic feet.

The drillings in Washington County give promise of being in the largest gas field to be found in Ohio in recent years, the report says.

The wells are about 20 miles apart. Those at the north location had an initial production of nearly three million cubic feet and those at the south drilling had a starting production of nearly six million cubic feet.

Altogether, 1,061 wells were drilled in 45 counties in 1951. Of these, 626 were successful and 435 resulted in dry holes. An average of 41 per cent were failures. Discoveries amounted to 142 million cubic feet of gas and 9,965 barrels of oil per day at the outset.

Largest gas well reported during 1951 was completed in October by B. H. Putnam Gas Co. on the J. S. Lamp farm, Washington County.

THE LARGEST oil well was drilled by the Sheffield Oil and Gas Co. on the Le Dugan farm in Knox County. The oil sand was found at 2,935 to 3,046 feet in depth.

Alaskan Town Hit By Flames

WRANGELL, Alaska, March 22 — (AP)—A wind-fed fire wiped out more than half of Wrangell's business section Saturday, destroying 20 buildings at a loss of $1 million.

Eighty-five persons were made homeless before the flames were brought under control after the fire mushroomed from a hardware store. The town has a population of 1,200.

Entry Ports Issue Brings New Accord

Allied-Red Truce Talkers Now Eye Prisoner Problem

MUNSAN, March 22 — (AP)—Truce negotiators virtually wrapped up an agreement on ports of entry Saturday as the Communists turned over detailed maps of five North Korean cities through which they would funnel troops and supplies during an armistice.

An Allied staff officer said the maps appeared to meet United Nations specifications and "looked in general to be following our pattern."

The maps showing exact areas in which neutral inspection teams would operate during a truce were flown to UN truce headquarters here for close study.

A second group of UN staff officers told the Communists their "new approach" to the prisoner exchange problem needed "a considerable amount of adjustment."

The Reds again made it clear they have no intention of abandoning the principle of forced repatriation of all war prisoners.

THE PORTS of entry were named Tuesday. Communist troops and supplies would move into North Korea through Sinuiju and Manpojin on the Yalu River border with Manchuria, Chongjin and Hungnam on the east coast and Sinanju, a rail junction in the northwest.

The UN ports in South Korea would be Pusan and Gangnung on the east coast, Kunsan and Incheon on the west coast and Taegu, an air base city in Southeast Korea.

The issue of voluntary versus forced repatriation of war prisoners is the only major dispute blocking agreement on prisoner exchange.

Two problems remain to be ironed out by negotiators working on truce supervision. They are Communist nomination of Soviet Russia to a neutral inspection commission and an Allied demand for a ban on construction of military airfields in North Korea.

Meanwhile, Saturday, U. S. jet planes outnumbered MiGs in a swirling air battle over Northwest Korea, climaxing one of their most successful weeks of the air war.

After a 30-minute battle high over Sinanju, American F-86 Sabre jets claimed one Communist MiG-15 probably destroyed and two others damaged.

During the week ended Friday, UN pilots destroyed nine Russian-built fighters, probably destroyed three and damaged 26.

Only four planes of the Fifth Air Force were lost—one in air combat, two to Red ground fire and one for an unknown reason.

Overcast skies Saturday kept most Allied warplanes on the ground and limited the ground fighting to a few desultory Red probes.

Taft Being Urged To Run For Veep

NEW YORK, March 22 — (AP)—A Republican congressman from Wisconsin suggested Friday night that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, and Sen. Robert A. Taft "get together on the Republican ticket for the good of the party and the good of the country."

Eisenhower's popularity, Congressman Alvin E. O'Konski added, would require that he run for President and Taft for vice president. He said he saw little chance of Taft winning Wisconsin's April 1 presidential primary.

Air Crash Kills 40 In Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany, March 22 — (AP)—A Royal Dutch airliner crashed and burned in a pine wooded plot in a Frankfurt suburb Saturday, killing 40 persons.

Six injured persons were reported pulled out of the flaming wreckage of the plane. One girl was reported not critically hurt, the others appeared in serious condition.

Airlift Set To Drop Hay To Livestock

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22 — (AP)—Air Force cargo planes flew to Nevada Saturday to team with snow-battling Army bulldozers in efforts to save 600,000 starving cattle and sheep.

Hamilton Field, north of San Francisco, ordered the cargo planes to rendezvous at the Elko, Nev., airport. There they were to pick up hales of hay and ranch-owners who are to guide the pilots to drop areas.

Aground, 25 U. S. Sixth Army bulldozers cleared lanes toward isolated herds. Behind them came hay-laden trucks.

But "Operation Haylift" was decided upon after aerial surveys showed that "Operation Breakthrough" would be too late for some herds.

Newton Crumley, an emergency director, called for the haylift after he flew over Northern Elko County in Nevada and spotted cattle so weak they couldn't shake off flocks of magpies.

The Northeastern Nevada "disaster area," so declared by President Truman in allotting $100,000 in relief funds, has been covered by snows for two months.

Hamilton Field officials said big C-124s and C-82s would duplicate the dramatic haylift of 1949 which saved the lives of thousands of marooned livestock.

'Red Cross' Check Forger Nabbed By FBI

TOLEDO, March 22 — (AP)—The FBI has crossed off its wanted list "the Red Cross man"—a check-forger agents have sought for weeks.

In city jail is Harry Muller, 33, who, the FBI said, posed as a wounded veteran to cash bogus checks on which he had rubber-stamped "the American Red Cross."

Using a fake limp and displaying burn scars on his leg, Muller would pose as a wounded veteran before offering his worthless paper for currency, the FBI said.

They said most of the phony checks were passed in bars and that Muller reportedly had worked the fraud in 26 states.

When FBI agents walked into Muller's hotel room here Friday—his 33rd birthday—they said he greeted them:

"Well, I've been expecting you for a long time. I knew you had to catch up with me sooner or later."

Cuba Gives Red Aides Bum's Rush

HAVANA, March 22 — (AP)—Cuba's new strong - man government bounced two Russians back to Mexico Friday without letting them leave Havana airport. The men, Fedor Zarkov and Alex Filitov, were reported to be Soviet diplomatic couriers.

The Russian embassy in Mexico City declined comment. The incident offered evidence that Cuba's new dictator, Fulgencio Batista, will get tough with Reds. They have made Cuba a center for discrediting secret documents from Moscow and Mexico to all Latin America.

New Blasts And Booms Echoing Along Heated Political Front

WASHINGTON, March 22 — (AP)—Presidential campaign skirmishing was most active Saturday in upcoming primary states — Nebraska, Wisconsin and Illinois — but blasts and booms were echoing elsewhere.

Once around the country turns up these events:

Nebraska—The April 1 primary campaign got a shot in the arm with the arrival of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and announcement of a write-in drive for Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio.

Wisconsin—The state supreme court's refusal to consider taking California Gov. Earl Warren's name off the April 1 ballot left Taft and Stassen backers arguing over who started it. State Attorney General Vernon Thomson, a Taft delegate candidate, said Stassen supporters inspired the action. Loyal Eddy, a Stassen delegate candidate, attributed Thomson's statement to "the crumbling of the Taft organization."

ILLINOIS — Eisenhower backers announced in Chicago they will not sponsor a write-in campaign in the April 8 Illinois presidential primary. Their reason: The state GOP organization "has been steadily working" for Taft.

New Jersey—Former Gov. Charles Edison urged Eisenhower to disavow the "ill-advised" support of Gov. Alfred Driscoll. Edison, a Taft backer, said he cabled the appeal to the general. Taft withdrew from New Jersey's April 13 primary after Driscoll announced support of Eisenhower.

Maine—A stage convention of Democrats was meeting Saturday to nominate a 10-vote national convention delegation, expected to be favorable to President Truman, but unpledged.

Kentucky—In Louisville, Eisenhower forces asked Taft to withdraw from the Kentucky delegate contest, being held by Republicans early in April. Taft forces replied: "Impudent."

Maryland—In Baltimore, Royden A. Blunt, candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination, said he will seek court action for an Eisenhower write-in campaign in the May 5 primary. Write-ins are considered legally unacceptable in Maryland.

California — Democrats supporting President Truman decided to dissolve the Truman slate, leaving Kefauver the only avowed Democratic candidate in the state. Truman had his name withdrawn earlier this week.

WASHINGTON, March 22 — (AP)—The Veterans Administration reports that a record $3.6 billion was loaned to veterans in GI home loans during 1951. The previous record was $3.2 billion in 1947.

However, the VA noted that the 447,373 GI home loans made last year were far less than the record number of 541,922 in 1947 and the 497,596 in 1950.

When the program was started in 1944 and 1945, only 43,256 loans were made, totaling $192 million. The number jumped to 412,037 in 1946, totaling $2.3 billion in 1946. The lowest year since was 1949, with 276,793 loans totaling $1.4 billion.

At present, GI home loan applications are running at about 25,000 to 30,000 a month, the VA said, compared with an average of more than 60,000 a month during part of 1950.

The VA under law can guarantee private lenders against loss up to 60 per cent of each GI home loan, with a maximum guarantee of $7,500.

There is also provision for the VA to make direct government loans to eligible veterans in areas where the VA finds that private mortgage financing for homes at four per cent is not available.

Tot, 3, Falls Through Floor Into Old Well

CRYSTAL BEACH, Md., March 22 — (AP)—Three-year-old Mary Margaret Kaufman fell through a hole in the first floor of her home, scored a bull's-eye in another foot opening in the basement floor, then plunged into 26 feet of water Friday.

Her 23-year-old mother dived into the basement well and kept the child afloat until the father, Harry Kaufman, 36, arrived on the scene to fashion a rescue apparatus with a piece of board and a rope.

The child was unconscious when brought to the surface, but she soon was revived.

The accident happened in the new home the Kaufmans have under construction near Annapolis.

VA Sets New Mark In GI Home Loans

Clarksville Man's Body Identified

HAMILTON, March 22 — (AP)—A river victim, fished out of the Little Miami here last Sunday, was identified by a brother Saturday as Cyrus L. Sewell, 65, of Clarksville (Clinton County).

The brother, Fred Sewell of Dayton, came to Hamilton after the Clarksville police chief, Ted Williams, notified him that the body found on a sandbar here might be that of Cyrus. No marks of violence were reported on the body.

Steel Industry Snubs Wage Deal

NEW YORK, March 22 — (AP)—The steel industry, formally turning down Wage Stabilization Board Wage board recommendations, plans to negotiate separately next week with various CIO company unions.

In its hot denunciation Friday of the board's proposal for a basic 17 1/2 cents-an-hour wage raise plus a union shop, the industry said such a wage hike would increase prices as much as $12 a ton.

PORTSMOUTH, March 22 — (AP)—The Portsmouth Times celebrated its 100th birthday Saturday, thus becoming one of 31 Ohio daily newspapers which have passed the century mark.

1,000 Persons Injured By Friday Storms

Arkansas Hit Hard By Twister; 123 Dead Are Counted

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 22 — (AP)—Spring tornadoes scattered death, destruction and untold suffering across four southern states Friday. The number of reported dead stood at 175 early Saturday.

More than 1,000 other persons were injured and still more were without homes in the wake of the terrific, twisting winds in Arkansas, Tennessee, Missouri and Mississippi.

Property damage and livestock losses were tremendously heavy and probably will run into the millions of dollars.

The dead in Arkansas alone was figured at 123 by the Arkansas Gazette, which based its estimate on reports from its staffers and correspondents.

Fifteen persons were reported dead and 66 injured in the Caruthersville area of Southeast Missouri. West Tennessee counted 30 dead and North Mississippi reported seven killed.

WITH ORDINARY means of communications disrupted, ham radio operators aided in getting messages into and from the stricken areas.

About 50 rural homes were reported smashed along a 10 to 12 mile stretch in the Missouri area.

From almost every point at which the black funneling winds struck in the four-state area came reports of heavy damages and numerous casualties.

The storms, forecast by the U. S. Weather Bureau, swirled a deadly trail from Southwest Arkansas to the state's northeast tip.

Hardest hit was the famous strawberry producing area of White County, Ark., where 62 dead were counted.

The towns of Judsonia and Bald Knob, about 50 miles northeast of Little Rock, were practically leveled. The only building unscathed in Judsonia was the Methodist Church.

The American Red Cross reported it had ordered disaster workers "from all over the country" into the stricken areas.

At some points, hail, rain and fire added to the misery and hampered rescue operations. Power lines and communications also were knocked out, further hindering the grim chores of National Guardsmen, state police and volunteer relief workers.

THE ARKANSAS Gazette estimated 700 persons were injured in Arkansas, and hundreds more were reported hurt in the other three ravaged states.

Three deadly funnels of wind struck West Tennessee in the Dyersburg area, where 12 were reported dead. Other casualty reports in Tennessee had nine killed at Henderson, six at Moscow, and one each in Medina, Leach and Chesterfield.

The Mississippi Highway Patrol said seven persons were killed when a twister ripped through one small North Mississippi town.

This was by far the worst of many tornado disasters which have hit Arkansas through the years. The previous record death toll was 86 in twisters which swept across the state June 5, 1916. The highest single day's death toll from tornadoes recorded is 689 killed in Missouri, Illinois and Indiana March 18, 1925.

3 Celina Persons Die In Accidents

CELINA, March 22 — (AP)—Two persons were killed in an auto accident and a 21-year-old man was found dead beneath his auto early Saturday.

Carlisle Bilger and Mrs. Maxine Jackson, both of Celina, were killed when their auto overturned on Route 29, seven miles east of here. Sheriff Dwight Roudenbush said Harold Birt, 21, of near Celina, was found dead beneath his auto parked on a country road, 1 1/4 miles west of Celina. No details were given.

4 Airmen Killed

PADUCAH, March 22 — (AP)—Four airmen were killed Friday when their four-engine jet bomber crashed and exploded in rough, desolate brush country about 22 miles northwest of here.

Control's End Seen Coming By Merchants

Some Curbs Said Due For Death In Near Future

NEW YORK, March 22 — (P)—Businessmen are seeing the first signs that the days of controls may be numbered.

Decontrol won't come quickly or all at once, they admit. But there's a chance some price controls will be dropped next week and that before the end of the year the present form of rationing out raw materials will be scrapped.

America's productivity—and not a change in government policy—will be the lever to pry controls off business and industry, businessmen feel.

Productivity has put many goods and materials in such abundant supply they are now selling well below the ceiling prices the government imposed to halt the price runaway after Korea. Such goods and materials may soon come out from under controls.

Hopeful are those who produce and process wool, cotton, hides, tallow, burlap and edible fats and oils—hopeful, but far from certain, of course.

EXPANDING production of metals, coupled with the stretch-out in the arms program which delays part of the military demand for metals, may get industry out from under the present controlled materials plan before too many months, metals men and their customers hope.

There's promise of more steel, aluminum and copper products after July 1 for makers of refrigerators, stoves, washing machines and other consumer durable products. Easing demand and increasing supplies make it possible.

The National Production Authority says today it hopes to raise some steel rations—now held to 50 per cent of base period use—to 65 per cent of this pre-Korea base by July 1.

Aluminum rations will go up from the present 30 per cent to 50 per cent; and brass mill products from 35 per cent to 40 per cent by summer. At the rate new production facilities are being built, still further supplies will be flooding into the market by year's end.

If the metals rationing plan is scrapped altogether this fall, it probably will be replaced by a priority system which in effect would give makers of defense products all they could use, and then let civilian goods makers have all that's left in any amount each one could get his hands on. Industry spokesmen contend that will put laid-off men back to work, and stop present confusion and uncertainties.

Orient Airman In Special Group

Staff Sgt. Gordon D. McKay, United States Air Force, has been assigned to a squadron of the 349th Mobile Training Group, Chanhassen Air Force Base, Ill.

McKay, son of John D. McKay of Orient Route 2, is in a training group composed of units which fly to Air Force bases all over the world, providing training on recent developments in military aircraft for pilots and maintenance crews.

Detachments, comprised of all types of air and ground crew specialists, conduct courses for airmen of Allied nations under provisions of the Mutual Defense Assistance Pact.

Mountain Kills 2 Cougar Dogs

DARRINGTON, Wash., March 22 — (P)—Death beat six expert mountain climbers up the sides of Mt. Pugh and took the lives of two of the three cougar dogs which had been marooned at the 4,000 foot level for 15 days.

The bodies of the valuable animals were found Friday by the mountaineers who braved the hazardous, snow-covered face of the 7,150-foot mountain a day-long climb to the dangerous ledge. The third dog had escaped by leaping from the ledge. Its tracks showed it heading towards civilization.

4 Jap Farmers Killed In Drill

SENDAI, March 22 — (P)—Four Japanese farmers were killed and three wounded Friday by grenades tossed by American soldiers on a drill ground near here.

The area had been put off limits by the Army, but apparently the farmers were not aware of the restrictions.

Last Month Has Seen 33 Counties Hit

Ohio lists of farmers who have bought feed from Indiana feed plants and Ohio will do likewise.

THE TWO states will also report to each other the results of laboratory analyses of certain feeds.

Geyer said that if it can be proved imported bone meal is a source of anthrax infection, he will recommend that stronger measures be taken to prevent contaminated bone meal from entering this country.

He said it was his understanding that federal regulations require bone meal be heated to a temperature sufficient to kill other types of disease organisms, but that the required temperature is not high enough to kill the hardy anthrax spores.

Geyer said a meeting of veterinarians from Ohio, Indiana and other states where anthrax has occurred in abnormal proportions recently will be held with federal officials in Washington next week, probably on Thursday.

Agriculture Department experts in Washington conferred Friday with their top field men in Ohio on the outbreak.

Farmers in the Fayette County area will meet at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday for a discussion of anthrax. The meeting will be held in Washington C. H. with Geyer and Dr. W. E. Beavers of the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry, leading the discussion.

Ohio counties which have farms quarantined because of the disease include: Clark, Clermont, Clinton, Champaign, Coshocton, Delaware, Franklin, Fayette, Greene, Hardin, Athens, Licking, Highland, Pickaway, Meigs, Miami, Morgan, Mercer, Preble, Montgomery, Henry and Putnam.

Indiana counties which have reported cases of anthrax include Union, Wayne, Randolph, Jay, Adams, Allen, Rush and Lagrange.

Eviction Suit Gets Attention Of State Men

An eviction suit launched in the court of Magistrate Earl Root has attracted attention from state officials.

The suit was launched by John Kochensparger, who lives on the old Canal land just across the tracks from the state garage.

Defendants in the suit are Dave and James Engle, who live in a shack adjoining the Kochensparger home.

Magistrate Root said the land on which both residences are located was leased about 14 years ago by Kochensparger's son, Jim Kochensparger, entailing a lease of 500 by 61 feet. The lease expires Sept. 1.

MEANWHILE, the Engle brothers moved onto a section of the leased land. Root said Kochensparger wanted to collect services from the Engles as rent for the property, but the Engles refused to work for him. Then Kochensparger launched the suit.

Officials of the state department of public works were called in to view the situation. They ruled Kochensparger had no right to evict on the property, since the lease was not his, and that the Engles, earlier, had no right to sublease the property.

The state men suggested the lease be split up. Root said the lease is now let out at a cost of $7 per year by the state.

Root's court has continued the action until a settlement has been reached by the parties concerned.

Ohio To Refuse Liquor Transfer

COLUMBUS, March 22 — (P)—Beginning next month, out-of-state residents who move to Ohio will not be allowed to bring liquor with them.

The State Board of Liquor Control disclosed this new regulation and said the change was made to prevent importation of liquor for illegal sale in Ohio. Up to now, it has been legal for people moving into Ohio to bring their personal liquor if they declared it and paid a fee.

Jury Summoned

CLEVELAND, March 22 — (P)—A new federal grand jury, to be impaneled Friday, will start with nine pending cases in which the government charges taxpayers have tried to evade more than $300,000 in 1945 taxes.

Farm Bureau Opens New Office

A new "point of service" Farm Bureau Insurance Co. office has been set up at 111 West Wheeling street, Lancaster.

The new office has been opened for the convenience of the company's 8,000 policy-holders in Pickaway and Fairfield Counties.

Opening of the new branch office was made to put the three Farm Bureau coverages—fire, auto and life—within easy reach of local subscribers.

The new office will offer a multiple line of auto, casualty fire and life insurance policies to both city and farm folk in Fairfield and Pickaway Counties.

Local agents who are working out of the new office are Walter A. Downing and Miss Ethel Brobst, Circleville; C. E. Dick, Mt. Sterling; and Robert Lewis, New Holland.

Moondog Ball Ends In Melee

CLEVELAND, March 22 — (P)—"The Moondog Coronation Ball" which was put on in Cleveland Arena Friday night was such a success it failed.

When 6,000 persons crashed the gates to join an already overcrowded capacity of 10,000, police riot squads stopped the entertainment and dancing.

About 9:30 the crowd outside, angry because they could not buy $1.75 tickets, stormed the gates, knocking down four panel doors. Two men were stabbed in the melee.

Fugitive Given Aid By Judge

CLEVELAND, March 22 — (P)—A chain gang fugitive has been given a hand by a Cleveland jurist, Samuel H. Silbert, who granted a habeas corpus Friday to block the return of Carlos Hembree, 27, to South Carolina.

The judge gave embree's attorneys until April 7 to put his plea before Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina. Hembree got an eight-year sentence after a jury convicted him of a $12 holdup near Columbia, S. C., Feb. 1, 1949. He served one year and ran away.

Brazil Purging Army Of Reds

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 22 — (P)—About 24 Army sergeants were reported under arrest Friday night in a drive to purge the Brazilian army of Communists.

Gen. Zenobio da Costa, who is heading the anti-Red campaign, confirmed that members of the armed forces have been rounded up. He would not say whether high ranking officers were included.

Dope Probe Set

PORTSMOUTH, March 22 — (P)—The Scioto County grand jury will meet Tuesday to investigate narcotics traffic in Scioto County. Prosecutor William H. Harsha said there was evidence a national dope peddling ring had planned to use Portsmouth as a regional distribution point.

You Can't Stretch That 'Last' Drink

COLUMBUS, March 22 — (P)—The state board of liquor control acted Friday to eliminate a popular Ohio pastime—drinking liquor in night clubs after 2:30 a. m. on Sundays.

The old regulation read that drinks could not be served after 2:30 a. m. on Sundays—but was silent on how long you would have to drink that "last drink." The liquor board changed this. It amended the regulation to read drinks must be consumed by then.

Sidetracked Call Is Given Firemen

SPRINGFIELD, March 22 — (P)—Springfield firemen got a call to a fire Friday night, but it's a good thing they didn't answer the alarm—they would have had to go 150 miles to find it.

The fire dispatcher said a woman called to report a grass fire was getting out of control on Massillon Road. The dispatcher asked where that was. The woman gave directions. But it still didn't make sense.

"This is the Springfield fire division," said the dispatcher.

"Oh, I'm sorry," said the unknown caller. "I thought it was the Akron fire department."

Springfield and Akron are about 160 miles apart. Telephone company spokesmen could give no explanation for the sidetracked call.

Gas Blast Alerts Mid-Manhattan

NEW YORK, March 22 — (P)—A gas blast in midtown Manhattan created a bomb scare Friday night and sent some persons scurrying for air raid shelters.

An invalid 72-year-old woman died in the explosion. Police said the woman, Mrs. Regina Oblatt, 72, apparently committed suicide by leaving on all jets of her kitchen stove. Police did not know what touched off the illuminating gas.

Churches Await 'One Great Hour'

NEW YORK, March 22 — (P)—Churches hope to raise more than $6 million in offerings Sunday to provide relief to needy peoples abroad.

Called the "One Great Hour of Sharing," the annual campaign is one of the major sources of support of church foreign mission relief work. Thousands of churches, of 21 denominations, will hold special services and take collections.

Mail Brings Abundance Of Information

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (P)—Things a man learns from reading his mail:

There is an old popular belief that major wars break out about every 22 years. The Foundation for the Study of Cycles, after checking wars from 559 B.C., says there's something to it. Wars also seem to come along about the same time as certain big solar disturbances. So to end wars all you gotta do is cure the sun of its spots? Boy, hand me that celestial ointment!

And leap year news: It is illegal to marry your husband's grandfather in Georgia. But if you want to wed your first cousin in West Virginia it's OK—if he's over 50 years old. You have to wait until you're a dowdy old maid of 16 before you can go to the altar in the hills of Kentucky. In conservative Massachusetts, however, you can be a bride at the blooming age of 12.

A name in the news recently was Alan Garfinkel, who had ties knots sealing 50,000 pieces of bologna a week, or 500 an hour. This it is real knotting. It takes a two-year apprentice to learn this skilled job right. There are only 25 professional bologna knotters in America . . . and they all hate the word arthritis.

Greenwich Village today is a tourist lure and a refuge for star-eyed young actresses, artists and Wall Street stenographers. But in 1822 it was so remote from downtown Manhattan that society people fled there to escape a yellow fever epidemic.

Did you ever hear of the noble lady who kept a corpse in her coach? She was Mademoiselle de Coigny, an 18th Century French intellectual. Why the corpse? She was studying anatomy, and liked to keep a subject handy.

Did you know that 2,000 aliens are now serving in the U. S. Army? That it is more important for you to be able to read well within arm's length than it is to have "twenty-twenty" vision, which only means the ability to read an eyesight chart at 20 feet. That the first automobile ever stolen in America was snatched in St. Louis in 1907 . . . that cars are aging just like people—because in 1950 half the autos on the road were ten years old or older?

Speaking of the auto industry, there were 23 million passenger cars in the United States in 1930 . . . 27.5 million in 1940 . . . 40 million in 1950 . . . and by 1960 there will be some 52 million.

The traffic prospect this raises is going to drive an awful lot of people back to the pogo stick.

The average American eats about 148 pounds of red meat a year.

Straw Program Is Instituted By Container

A new straw buying program is announced by Circleville's Container Corporation.

A complete change in straw buying methods will be in full swing when the 1952 wheat crop goes to market this summer, according to V. L. Hawkes of Container Corporation of America. Hawkes is in charge of buying straw or the Circleville plant.

Under the new program, the company will pay farmers or balermen $2 a ton over the price paid at the plant for straw contracted in advance. Clauses protect the seller if he cannot fill his contract because of a short crop or bad weather.

An additional $2 a ton will be paid for storing straw on the farm from the current harvest and delivering it as needed by the company. The company agrees to ask for delivery of the straw before the next harvest.

The new program has been tried in other states and found superior to the methods used in the past. Under the old system the farmer and balerman never knew in advance what he would be paid for his straw, or even if he would have a market for it at all.

Likewise the Container Corporation never knew in advance what they would have to pay for straw, how much they could get or how far they would have to go for it.

Straw is now being contracted. The company intends to contract for the year's requirements well in advance of the harvest season.

Lenten Series To Continue In Calvary EUB

A Lenten series of messages on the Beatitudes of Jesus will be continued in worship service Sunday in Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church.

The service will be opened by call to worship and invocation by Dale DeLong, Sunday school superintendent, following a prelude by Miss Minnie Wilkerson.

The scripture lesson will be taken from the story of the unforgiving servant as told by Christ, and his further words of a forgiving spirit.

Following the worship service, the congregation will enter into the lesson study in the Sunday school as they meet in their various classes. "And Open Heart and Home" is the lesson which will be studied.

At 7:30 p. m., a special called meeting of the congregation will be held for the purpose of discussing some future plans for the church. Senior choir will practice following the meeting.

German Woman Lawyer To Be Guest Here

Miss Gisela Bohm from Mannheim, Germany, will be in Cincinnati for one week beginning this Saturday evening.

Miss Bohm is a young German lawyer who has recently become a legal trainee in the court in her city. She took her first bar examination in 1951, having specialized in the history of Roman and German law and in the American judicial system at Ruperto Carola University in Heidelberg.

Her specific reasons for coming to the United States are: To learn to know America and its people; To compare the American standards of living with the German standards; To observe the life of young people in the United States; and To study the American judicial system and local, state and federal government.

Miss Bohm will be a guest of Circleville First Methodist church for her week-long study.

'Stewardship' Theme Due For Presbyterians

"Stewardship In The Life Of The Soul" is the subject of a Lenten sermon to be heard Sunday, which is "every member canvass" Sunday, in Presbyterian church.

During the worship, the Rev. Donald Mitchell will offer a prayer of dedication as the tithes, offerings and pledges are brought to the altar.

Gifts for "The One Great Hour of Sharing" will also be brought at this time.

"Beneath The Cross of Jesus" is the anthem chosen for the choir by Mrs. Clark Will. At the organ, Mrs. Theodore L. Huston will play "Cantilene," "Reverie" and "Psalm XVIII."

Congregational singing will include the hymns: "Come Thou Almighty King," "Savior Thy Dying Love Thou Gavest Me" and "I Love Thy Kingdom Lord."

After the service of worship, members of Westminster Fellowship Youth Group will be in charge of a Presbyterian magazine table, to receive renewal of subscriptions.

Also, dinner will be served in the social rooms of the church for all officers and other solicitors on the "every member canvass."

At 6:30 p. m. the pastor will lead an instruction class in study and discussion of the meaning and purpose of church membership. The group will meet in the session room of the church.

'Prodigal Wife' Theme Readied For Lutherans

"The Prodigal Wife" is the theme for a study of Hosea which will be offered in Trinity Lutheran church this Sunday.

The Rev. Mr. Troutman says: "The listing of Hosea as one of the minor prophets has led many to believe wrongly that Hosea was one of the lesser men of Israel. Such was not the case, as Hosea had a lengthy ministry and lived to see many of his prophecies fulfilled."

"Scholarship has been divided as to the identity of Gomer. Yet, there is general agreement that the central lesson of the book is a warning against waywardness."

A male sextette from the senior choir will sing "Jesus, Sun of Righteousness" and the senior choir will lead the congregation in singing the hymns, "Holy, Holy, Holy," "He Leadeth Me, O Blessed Thought" and "God Of Nations, Throned Above."

Services will be held in Christ church, Lick Run, at 2 p. m.

Worship Rites Planned By Nazarenes

"Relationships in Life" will be the sermon topic delivered by the Rev. Doyle Clay Sunday during worship service in Church of the Nazarene.

Adult choir will present a selection entitled "Beautiful Garden of Prayer," while Sunday school classes will study a lesson "Lydia, Who Opened Heart and Home."

Young people of the church will meet at 6:45 p. m. for a service to be directed by Roy Hamilton.

An evangelistic service will be held following the young people's meeting. The Rev. Mr. Clay will deliver a sermon entitled "The Simplicity of the Plan of Salvation."

A trio made up of Mrs. Jack Mumaw, Mrs. Clay and Nancy Waple will present special music.

Conference Due Sunday

Chillicothe sub-district Family Life Conference will be held in First Methodist church beginning at 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

Purpose of this meeting is to follow up the National Family Life Conference which was held in Chicago last Fall in order to assist in stimulating interest in each church in organizing discussion groups among families in the local church, especially the younger families in the process of growing.

All couples are cordially invited to attend this conference, which will be under the direction of the Rev. Joseph Snyder of Mt. Sterling.

Plan Afoot To Move Protestant Church Capital Into Columbus

Where do the nation's Protestant ministers want the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. to locate its permanent headquarters—in New York City or in the mid-west near the center of population?

The Ohio Council of Churches—which has invited the National Council to locate in the proposed "Temple of Good Will" in Columbus—has started a "grass-roots" poll to find out how the pastors themselves feel on the question.

The poll started with Ohio, the state's pastors voted 35 to 1 for a mid-western location. Nearly 1,900 pastors of 17 denominations replied to the mail poll. The vote: For the mid-west 1888; for New York City 39.

Ohio Council believes that the poll of pastors will be of value to the committee charged with selection of a site for the National Council's headquarters.

Similar mail polls now are being conducted or are planned in Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Iowa, Kansas and California.

A parallel poll is being conducted among leaders in state and city councils of churches. Of 80 replies already received from such persons, 69 say they believe the National Council headquarters should be in the mid-west.

The headquarters now are located temporarily in New York City and have been since the old Federal Council of Churches and a number of other interdenominational agencies merged into the new National Council in December, 1950.

At the time the National Council's headquarters city selection committee was named, it was instructed by the assembly of the council to give serious consideration to locating headquarters in a city within a reasonable distance of the nation's center of population.

Nevertheless, New York City has made a strong bid to retain the headquarters. The current polls, Dr. Lamb explains, are to determine whether the nation's pastors are in sympathy with the New York desire to claim the permanent Protestant capital.

Some denominational headquarters likely will be moved to the headquarters city chosen by the National Council.

Columbus proposes that the skyscraper "Temple of Good Will"—for which the site already has been purchased in the heart of downtown Columbus—will provide office space for both the National Council and all denominational headquarters which desire to locate in Ohio's capital city.

Glory Of Cross Is Theme For First EUB

"Glorious in the Cross" is the sermon theme for First Evangelical United Brethren church in unified worship service at 9:30 a. m. Sunday.

Miss Lucille Kirkwood, organist, will introduce the worship hour with a prelude, "Lento Expressivo," after which the church choir, under the direction of Montford Kirkwood Jr., will sing a processional hymn, "The Church's One Foundation, Is Jesus Christ, Her Lord."

Church School Superintendent Edwin Richardson will give call to worship, invocation and will lead the congregation in the reaffirmation of a common faith.

The Rev. Carl L. Wilson will direct morning prayer, following the congregational hymn, "In the Cross of Christ I Glory."

"May God Depend on You?", an anthem by Ira B. Wilson, is a special selection to be sung by the choir.

Using a scriptural directive from Galatians 6:14, the Rev. Mr. Wilson says of the sermon:

"The heart of the Gospel is redemption, and the essence of redemption is the substitutionary sacrifice of Christ. There is nothing that touches the heart of man like the Cross of Jesus."

"As it took the eyes of a Michael Angelo to see an angel in a rough slab of marble, so it takes the eyes of a spirit-inspired man to see the glory of the cross of Christ. There is much in which man might glory in his spiritual experience, but the glory of the cross blinds his eyes to the glory of anything else."

"The whole counsel of God finds its center in the Crucified One, therefore to glory of the cross of Christ is to glory in the wisdom and power of God. To glory in any earthly thing is to deny the cross of Christ and to rob God of His glory."

"Six good reasons are listed why man should glory only in the cross of the Lord, Jesus Christ: (1) By it the love of the Father God is seen; (2) By it the love of the Son, Jesus Christ, is declared; (3) By it sinners are reconciled to God; (4) By it believers are separated from the world; (5) By it every needful blessing is pledged; and (6) In it lies God's remedy for all the woes of the world."

Church school classes will study the lesson, "Lydia, Who Opened Heart and Home."

Service Readied For Methodists

"Jesus Weeps Over Jerusalem" is the worship theme to be presented by the Rev. Robert Weaver during worship service Sunday in First Methodist church.

Organ selections to be played by Mrs. Ervin Leist for the service are "Open the Gates of the Temple," "He Shall Feed His Sheep" and "Larghetto from Symphony in D Minor."

Choir anthem for the service will be "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes," featuring a solo by Elliott Barnhill.

Child Problems and Solutions

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, PhD

Practically every growing child comes in contact with persons over fifty. Some children live in families with aging grandparents or great-grandparents.

The outlook on life—the cheerfulness or gloom, the hopefulness or despair—of these aging persons in the presence of children has a strong effect on them. Marvelous are those who, living beyond seventy or eighty, are cheery and optimistic.

In the foreword of a recent booklet, "Through The Window," written after the age of eighty by the great-grandmother Edith E. Reid Mumford, Beaconsfield, England, one reads: "Looking through the window of experience enjoyed over the span of eighty years, I have seen so much which makes life good and worth living; looking through the window of my sitting-room I have seen so much loveliness in the world which lies outside; and looking through the window of my mind, have recovered memories which have given me joy; thus the writing of this little book that others might share with me my happiness and faith."

A FEW YEARS AGO I devoted a column to one of Mrs. Mumford's books, "How We Can Help Children To Pray." Her other books, "The Dawn of Character in the Mind of the Child," "The Dawn of Religion in the Mind of the Child," and "Understanding Our Children," were widely read and used as textbooks in this country. But they are out of print—destroyed in the bombing of London in the Second World War. But these books may be in your public library. "Through The Window" is distributed by Edgar Backus, Leicester, England, at 2 shillings, about 30 cents.

The booklet is made up of short snatches of one or two paragraphs in which she describes what she sees now or recalls from earlier days, and the hopeful, happy thoughts they bring to her. "And it is thus that thoughts come into my mind for I am ready to receive them, and my mind is rich in happy memories."

A gray evening sky helps her recall "the quieter happiness which had been mine before."

Her last item in the booklet is "The End of the Road" — "The laugh of a child, gay as the babbling of a brook as it runs over the stones in the meadow; a smile on the face like the shining of the sun; a light at the end of the road when the labour of the day is done; the sleep which comes to the old when the promise of early life has been fulfilled; together they spell such gladness that there is no room for sadness, but only for a song which is lovely, like the tremulous trill of a bird."

WONDERFUL IF YOU and I could live to be as old as Mrs. Mumford now is and still keep her youthful outlook. Then what happy memories our children, grandchildren might have of us!

Q. Our baby, 14 months old, insists on feeding himself, but he gets so messy.
A. Forget about the messiness. Encourage him in this good practice. There's no better way to cultivate a good appetite and foster self-reliance in him.

Lydia Opened Heart and Home

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Acts 16:6-40

By Alfred J. Busscher

Lydia, a devout woman, listened to Paul's teaching, and after being baptized, she begged Paul and his companions to be guests in her home.

A slave girl possessed of a spirit kept following the apostles until Paul ordered the spirit to come out of her, which angered her masters.

The men who had been making money from the girl's gift of prophecy, dragged the apostles to the market place where they were beaten.

Imprisoned, the apostles prayed and sang. An earthquake loosed all bonds. In the morning they returned to Lydia.

SCIENCE—AND WHAT

SO RAPID have been and are advances in the physical sciences in this atomic age that it is entirely natural there should be a distinct shift in curriculum trends by college graduates. The brilliant young student who can look forward to a B. S. degree's enabling him to step directly out of college and into a $5,000 or $6,000 job without going on to a technical school is more and more inclined to demand:

"Give me all the 'exact' science I can take!"

And the same is true of those who plan to do graduate work and to fit themselves to answer the increasing demand for real scientists.

Upon the colleges under these unusual circumstances there devolves an obligation, whether they be privately endowed or tax-supported, to turn out adequate quotas of really educated youth. A line has to be drawn in each of them, and then adhered to.

Can the teaching of college English be dispensed with in an English-speaking people? Hasn't the college graduate lost something irretrievable who is allowed to slip away from alma mater without some taste for belle lettres, or a desire to know more of history with the passing of the years?

Is psychology to him or her to be merely a word that connotes Freud or anti-Freud? Economics, modern languages, the arts, elements of philosophy—what of these?

It is only fair to assume that the college must to some degree yield to this scientific pressure. But at the ages of 30 and 40 their intellectual graduates ought to be individuals of an enjoyable and expanding culture. If not, they will have been so many slaves of the lamp.

To make people more spending conscious, one economist proposes to use "one thousand million" instead of "billion." But how would a headline writer crown a story about an "eighty-five thousand million-dollar budget?"

American horses have declined from 27,000,000 in 1918 to less than 9,000,000 today, which may explain what has happened to horse sense.

Eggs have dropped 16 cents wholesale in three months, perhaps in preparation for the presidential campaign.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Thus far, the canvass for the Presidential nomination in either party has produced factional splits of an unusual character.

In the Democratic Party, the cleavage between the North and the South is of so serious a nature, so personal and vindictive that no one can foretell its consequences. In this situation, Senator Estes Kefauver is no factor. He is still regarded as regular in party politics, as placing himself in position for the Vice-Presidential nomination. It is assumed by politicians that Kefauver will actually be of value to Truman, making it possible for the President to have a Southerner on his ticket should he decide to run again.

On the other hand, William Hillman's book, "Mr. President," has deepened the antagonism among Southerners for the President. The publication of the letter to James Byrnes, which the book claims Truman read to his then Secretary of State and which Byrnes denies he ever saw or heard, involves the President and the Governor of South Carolina in an argument as to who is untruthful.

The quarrel between them is now irreconcilable because it has become personal rather than political, with all the overtones of a feud. Most of the Southerners will line up with Byrnes and will support Senator Richard Russell for the Presidency. Russell's candidacy is real and may result in a third ticket in the election. This may benefit whoever is the Republican candidate; it could throw the election into the 83rd Congress, the complexion of which is not now known.

Ralph Nicholson, publisher of "The Charlotte Observer," raises the question of a coalition of Taft and Russell in a speech in which he said:

"I think that the most qualified candidates to lead us back to liberty and security at home and respect abroad are Senator Russell and Senator Taft. I think either can do marvelously. It would be grand if one of them could become President and the other Vice President."

This is a reverberation of the effort a year ago of Senator Karl Mundt to form a coalition of Republicans and Democrats. While this effort failed then, it is now being revived in those circles which are antagonistic to Eisenhower and Truman.

The Republicans are also violently divided. It would seem at this moment that no matter who is nominated, the personal animosities developing during the primaries will not be allayed in time to achieve party unity by Election Day.

Republican politicians have always contended that the Willkie and Dewey elections were lost because too many Republicans did not vote for the Presidential candidate in those elections.

The hard core of a Republican victory is the regular party vote. If enough independents come their way, the Republicans can win. If, however, regulars vote for United States Senators and the Governors and state officials, but scratch the Presidential candidate, it has been experience that the independents do not make up for the abstentions among the Republicans.

Way Is Often Difficult for The "Only Child" in Family

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

ACCORDING to a recent study, an "only child" appears to have a greater tendency toward emotional instability. Therefore, the parents of such a child must have extra patience and an intelligent outlook if they are to raise him to be an emotionally stable adult. The study was made of 200 school children who required psychological treatment because of emotional and personality disturbances. It was discovered that 33 per cent were the only child in the family, 27 per cent the oldest child, and 19 per cent the youngest.

Mother Has Difficulty

In the general population, the percentage where there is one child in the family is only 18 per cent. Usually, when there is only one child, the mother has had great difficulty in pregnancy or during the nursing period.

There seems to be a very close tie between such a child and its parents, particularly the mother. Usually, the mother is a dominating type. There is danger that the child will not gain the emotional maturity that is more easily attained by children from larger families.

As a rule, an only child finds his social and school life more difficult than does a child who is brought up with other children. When it comes to intelligence, however, the only child has superior mental development and greater ability to acquire the use of language, but he does not learn how to get along with other children so well.

May Be Spoiled

There is a great tendency to spoil an only child and overemphasize his good points. This may build him up for a big "let-down" when he enters school and is in the constant company of other children.

Parents should encourage an only child to play with other children as much as possible. If he appears "left out" of things, they should arrange to have him take part in guided recreation groups.

While encouragement is necessary, they should not push too much to build up the child's ego. He should be taught the values of life, and should not be given everything on a "silver platter."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

W. C.: I had a fractured hip about two years ago. At that time a pin was inserted in my hip. I now have pain in that hip. Could the pin be removed?

Answer: Sometimes there is some residual pain following the placement of a pin in the hip. In most cases, the pain is not too severe and can be well tolerated by the individual.

In a certain few cases, where the pain is not tolerable, surgery is performed to remove the pin. If the person's general condition warrants the operation and the fractured bone is sufficiently healed, however, in most cases this is only done as an absolute necessity.

Try, Stop Me

A lady who lives in Irvington-on-the-Hudson has a small son who fell out of a rowboat on a pond near the family mansion and came back to the house soaked from head to foot. She told him he must stay in his room until she could dry out his suit and iron it for him. A little later she heard a commotion in the cellar. Exasperated, she left the ironing board, and called down from the top of the basement stairs, "Are you down there wetting your pants again?" There was dead silence for a moment. Then a deep masculine voice answered meekly, "No, ma'am, I am just reading the meter."

According to Sam Levenson, an irate mother marched her ten-year-old son into a doctor's office and demanded, "Is a boy of this age able to perform an appendix operation?" "Of course not," snapped the doctor. Mama turned angrily on the boy and shouted, "So who was right? Put that back!"

DEAD WEIGHT

CHAPTER THIRTY-EIGHT

THE inspector walked in, ignored the curious stares of the other diners, nodded to Muggsy, and said, "So I finally caught up with you, eh? I knew I was right. I should have locked you up and thrown the key away when I had you in on that Lunfar job. What's going on?"

Liddell took a fast look at the time, decided to play it straight. He dropped into a chair, brought Herley up to date on what had happened since he put the pressure on Brin at Marty's Place. Herley almost forgot to chew his ever-present gum during the telling. As soon as Liddell had explained the existence of the short wave set aboard the Sea Nymph, the inspector jumped to his feet.

"What are you sitting around here for? We gotta get going." "How about the harbor police, inspector?" Muggsy suggested. "Can't we get them to move in on the Sea Nymph?"

"Not out in Manhasset bay, Muggsy," Herley grunted. "We can get there faster." He led the way back to the squad car. "Manhasset bay, Mickey," he told the driver, "and really let her roar. Cut your siren before we get into Manhasset. This is a surprise party and we're not invited."

The Sea Nymph was a long, sleek black shadow moored to the dock at Manhasset bay. The tall, slim snout of an antenna poked upward toward the first streaks of dawn in the sky.

Johnny Liddell, Inspector Herley, and Muggsy Kieley left the squad car a block from the mooring, approached on foot. They melted into the shadows of a building, a stone's throw from where a gangplank connected the ship and the dock.

"You'd better stay here, Muggsy, until we know what we're likely to run into," Johnny Liddell whispered. "Nothing doing," Muggsy shook his head vigorously. "We got a deal. I come aboard with you."

"Liddell's right," Herley put in. "We'd better try it alone first, Muggsy. You'll be in at the finish," he promised.

Muggsy started to argue, decided she was outnumbered. "Okay, but I'll wait here fifteen minutes," she conceded, "then I'm coming up."

"Okay, okay," Liddell nodded. "Let's go, inspector."

They hugged the shadow of the building as far as it would cover them. Then, dodging from dark spot to dark spot, they halted behind a large case at the foot of the gangplank.

"This is going to be the tough part, if they've got a lookout posted," Liddell whispered. "I'll go first. You've got the gun. Cover me."

Herley nodded, fumbled under his jacket, came up with his service revolver. "Okay, Liddell. Good luck."

Liddell nodded, peered from behind the huge packing case at the dock's edge up at the ship. There was no sign of a lookout. As quietly as he could, he made his way to the gangplank, crept up it, made the deck of the ship with no trouble. He crouched in the shadow of the superstructure, watched breathlessly as Herley followed.

"No sign of life?" Herley panted.

Liddell caught his sleeve, pointed to the bow. In the darkness, a pin point of light glowed brightly, then died away. "He's been there all the time," Liddell whispered, "but I guess he hasn't been expecting any company. I'll take him."

Herley nodded, melted back into the shadows.

Liddell crept forward on all fours until he could make out the shadowy form of the man smoking a cigarette. The cigarette glowed and died as the man took a last deep drag on it, then it cut a wide arc in the darkness as he flipped it out.

into the water. Liddell flattened back against the side of the cabin as the man got up, started toward him. He was small, narrow shouldered, walked with a peculiarly shuffling motion. Chinese!

He saw Johnny Liddell, afloat at the moment Liddell sprang. He opened his mouth to shout a warning or call for help, but nothing but a strangled grunt came out when Liddell drove the tips of his extended fingers into the Chinaman's Adam's apple.

Liddell brushed aside the arm that was on its way to the guard's holster, hit him a staggering blow that dropped him to the deck with a thud.

There was a scurrying noise behind him. Liddell swung, recognized Herley.

Liddell nodded, bent down alongside the unconscious man, squinted at him, grunted.

"Know him?" Herley asked. "Celia's bodyguard. Saw him at the Chinese Heaven." He pulled the gun from the Chinaman's holster, jammed it into his jacket pocket, motioned for Herley to help him. They dragged the Chinaman to the bow of the boat, handcuffed his hands around the railing. "Just in case he gets wanderlust," Liddell grunted. He pulled the handkerchief from the man's breast pocket, jammed it between his teeth. "In case he gets lonesome and tries to talk back."

Liddell led the way back to the companionway amidships. They descended noiselessly into the interior of the boat. From someplace nearby came the unmistakable sounds of a transmitter in action. Liddell motioned for Herley to follow, walked slowly to the room housing the transmitter.

At the closed door to the room, Liddell paused, put his ear to the panel, nodded. "They're sending." He tried the knob. It turned easily in his hand. He pushed the door open a crack.

(Editor's Note: Every Saturday this veteran Washington newspaper correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 6308 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON, March 22—"Is it true," asks Mrs. H. K. of Albuquerque, N.M., "that Russian and satellite-country diplomats at Washington are permitted by our government to send anti-American propaganda through the U.S. mails? Friends tell me they have seen such literature, but it seems incredible to me. If so, how soft can we get toward the Communists?"

UNBELIEVABLE — Answer: The stuff sent through the mails by our avowed enemies is almost unbelievable. Besides giving them the use of Post Office facilities for this poisonous material, we permit numerous Red agencies here, in New York and elsewhere to consume a great volume of scarce white paper. Before giving a sample of their outrageous attacks on us, I should note that similar courtesies are not given us behind the iron curtain. They jam the Voice of America radio messages.

By inference, this official government document vilifies President Truman, Secretary Acheson, members of Congress and all our military leaders.

NUISANCE — "What right has Stassen to run for the Republican presidential nomination?" explodes F. M. of Concord, N.H. "He made a pitiful showing in our primary. Although he may carry his home primary in Minnesota, I doubt if he will get a handful of votes in any other state. He strikes me as a nuisance."

Answer: First, every man has a right to run for President, although it would seem that Harold has worn out his right and his welcome.

Frankly, he is running as a "stooge" for Eisenhower, although without the General's consent or approval. In Wisconsin his managers say openly that the "best way to nominate Eisenhower is to vote for Stassen."

The ambitious Minnesotan, who is as bored with his university presidency as the trustees are with him, aims to become Secretary of State or Attorney General in an "Eisenhower Cabinet."

"The government of the United States is doing everything in its power to embitter the international situation, to complicate and aggravate it, with the aim of kindling a new world war. The government of the United States is in this way following the rash plan of the American monopolists for the domination of the entire world."

Three Recipes From Files Of Miss Peggy Parks

Miss Peggy Parks, 433 South Scioto street, offers three recipes for meatless dishes from her recipe collection.

Shrimp Louisiana

4 Tablespoons butter

1 1/4 cups mushrooms, cut in pieces

4 Tablespoons flour

Few grains pepper

1 1/4 cups milk

1 cup cream

3 cups cooked shrimp

3 Tablespoons cherry flavoring

Pastry points

Salted almonds

Heat butter in pan of chafing dish on high heat or in a sauce pan. Add mushrooms and cook until a delicate brown. Add milk and cream; cook, stirring constantly, until thick. Add shrimp; heat over hot water. Add cherry flavoring. Serve on flaky pastry points. Sprinkle generously with chopped salted almonds.

Tuna-Stuffed Peppers

5 large peppers

1 cup tuna

1 cup bread crumbs

1 Tablespoon chopped parsley

1 Tablespoon chopped onion

2 Tablespoons chopped green pepper

1 egg yolk

1/4 cup cream

1/4 teaspoon salt

pinch paprika

Wash peppers. Carefully remove tops and save them. Discard seed and pulp. Cover by four inches with boiling water. Let simmer for five minutes. Drain and rinse in cold water. Stuff with the rest of the ingredients, combined. Replace pepper tops and fit stuffed peppers into a shallow baking dish. Add one fourth inch of water and bake for thirty minutes in a moderate oven.

Rice with Mushrooms and Almond Sauce

2 cups boiled rice

1/2 slice onion

1/4 lb. mushrooms

1/2 teaspoon salt

2 Tablespoons butter

1 cup broth or stock

4 Tablespoons flour

Cook onion in butter until brown; remove onion and add flour and salt; cook until brown. Add stock and boil 2 minutes. Add mushrooms, which have been sauted in butter. Mix in toasted almonds and serve over hot rice.

Bible Class Meets In Seibel Home

Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. Seibel, Elm avenue, were hosts to 20 members of the Harper Bible Class of the Evangelical United Brethren church, Friday evening.

A committee was named to nominate a slate of officers for the coming year. It consists of Mrs. George Gerhardt, Roy Johnson and Alvin Perdion.

During the program, George Gerhardt, a local attorney, spoke on the topic, "How A Lawyer Looks At The Bible." He stated that a lawyer looks for facts in the Bible even as he does in his every day work. He described the Jewish court at that time. An open discussion on the Bible followed.

Refreshments were served to the group with Mr. and Mrs. Hillis Hall assisting.

For the April meeting, election of officers will be held and a ham supper will be served in the service center of the church.

Mrs. Ned Barnes Is Hostess

Mrs. Ned Barnes, Cedar Heights Drive, entertained recently in honor of her husband, who was celebrating his birthday anniversary.

Refreshments were served at small tables to Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Reichelderfer, Ned Austin, Carolyn Austin, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Reichelderfer, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Dresbach, Roger Deleno, Hugh Deleno, Mrs. Margaret Leist, Mrs. Margie Barnes, Rom Barnes and the honored guest.

THE ANTHRAX EMERGENCY

Serious outbreaks of Anthrax are occurring and upon investigation of State Authorities the suspicion exists that imported Bone Meal and Meat products may be carriers of the disease.

To our knowledge no known cases have occurred on farms where Heinz NU-WAY Feeds are being used and to assist our customers in guarding against any possible future outbreaks through feed contamination, we have taken the following steps:

1. All Bone Meal has been replaced in NU-WAY Feeds, Supplements and Minerals with other tested phosphorus ingredients.
2. All tankage and meat products have been entirely replaced with Fish Solubles and Fish Meal, for added production as well as extra safety.
3. This policy will continue until the Anthrax emergency is ended.

See your Heinz NU-WAY Dealer for wholesome, healthful production feeds for livestock and poultry or write to—

State 'A' And 'B' Final Tests Nearing

It's Middletown vs Steubenville And Lockland Against Nelsonville

COLUMBUS, March 22—(AP)—One of the quietest quartets in tournament history fights it out Saturday for Ohio's Class A and Class B high school basketball championships.

The all-star case for the championship contests offers a bit of everything. In Class A, it's Middletown's Mighty Middies against Steubenville's unbeaten Big Red. In Class B, it's Nelsonville against Lockland Wayne.

Middletown, champion in 1944-45 and runnerup in 1945, is in the finals for the fifth time in nine years. The Butler County crew has won 23 of 24 for Coach Paul Walker, prexy of the Ohio Basketball Coaches' Association.

Steubenville, only unbeaten team in the Buckeye realm, has 28 straight conquests. In two previous trips to the big tourney, the Big Red was ousted in the opening game.

Nelsonville, a Class A club the last 10 years, during which it reached the state meet twice, skidded to Class B this season because of an enrollment drop, so this is the first time in the "junior" section for the classy kids from the Athens County hills. They've won 22 of 25.

Lockland Wayne is an all-Negro school in Hamilton County, coached by gentlemanly Joe Martin. The Panthers have been to the state meet five times since 1941, reaching the finals in 1949 when Delphos St. Johns took the title 47-43.

The tussle for the titles is the big item on Saturday's agenda, but there's a scoring sidelight which will attract much of the Class A spotlight.

It pits two all-Ohio stars against each other, each of whom was directly responsible Friday night for getting his team up to the throne room door.

Dick Vice, Middletown's hard-work artist, set a new Class A scoring record of 31 points as Cincinnati Withrow was ousted 67-48.

The old mark was set by Newark's Dwight Snelling in 1941, but Vice was four over that figure when he left the game—accompanied by the tourney's most spontaneous ovation—five minutes before the finish. That big spurge gave Vice 44 points for two games.

RIGHT ON his heels with 43 is Steubenville's Bill Ross, another All-Ohio, who took his mates by the hand and led them into the title game by scoring all nine fourth-period points as the Big Red nosed out a surprisingly strong and adept Akron North team 45-43.

The Vikings, 1935-39 champs, were 10 points back in the third quarter, but knotted the count three times in the final session—only to succumb to Ross' one-man spree.

The Ross-Vice duel isn't the only close one, however, since each club boasts two other big guns.

Cliff Hafer, Middletown center, and Chuck Ellis of Steubenville have 28 each for two tilts. And Don Barnett of Middletown has 27, only three ahead of Steubenville Captain Frank Gilliam.

Nelsonville, with Dick Hubbard contributing 18 points and Sonny Keplar 13, ended Waynesburg's 25-game winning streak 45-43. The Mohawks from Stark County have now lost two games in two losses, by a total of three points, both losses coming in the state meet. Last year, Grand Rapids nosed out Waynesburg by a single point in the Class B finals.

Four of the Waynesburg regulars fouled out against Nelsonville, and the Mohawks were never ahead of the hill country squad.

LOCKLAND Wayne took no chances against Minster, moving out to a 22-8 first period edge and then holding the losers scoreless for seven minutes and 17 seconds of the final session, for a 56-43 win.

Hubbard is the No. 1 Class B scorer with 35 points for two games, and Keplar has 28. Fletcher Yates, Lockland Wayne center, tops the Panthers with 26, and Jim Daniels and Ray Tomlin have 13 each.

The Class B championship game was scheduled for 2 p. m. in State Fairgrounds Coliseum, with the "A" classic on the same hardwoods at 8 p. m.

The Class B finalists were the lone survivors of the 865 teams in that category, while the two Class A contenders are the remnants of 251 which started down the long tourney trail.

A new attendance record is certain, for enough tickets have been sold to assure it. The first four sessions attracted 32,916 fans, and the record, set in 1950, is only 41,386. At least 15,000 are expected Saturday.

A deepening of the cleavage among Republicans will surely therefore result in the defeat of the Republican candidate whoever he may be, unless he wins over some of the Solid South, in which case the normal ratios would be altered in favor of the Republican candidate.

The Eisenhower forces are bitter because Taft has prevented the nomination of their candidate by unanimous consent.

The Taft forces are bitter because the volunteers in the Eisenhower group, many of them former New Dealers and former government officials, use tactics in a primary which they say imperil the election. This argument is being made in particular concerning New Jersey.

The professional invariably thinks during the primary that whoever is nominated will have to be supported. Therefore, while he opposes a candidate, he does not employ tactics in the primaries which imperil the party's victory at the polls.

The amateur, particularly business men, does not think that way. He sets the target and hopes to reach it by whatever means can be devised. The effect in the Willie campaign was the election of Roosevelt for a third term, which heretofore had been believed impossible.

Thus far this is apparent—in no camp currently is there any feeling of elation. I am not referring to published statements; I am referring to what is said behind the hand.

Politicians in neither party are in a mood to set up odds for their side.

Naval Attack Transport Is Named For Pickaway County

USS Pickaway On Duty In Korean Waters

How And Why Ship Named Is Mystery

Pickaway County is being well represented in the hot conflicts in Korea and the Far East.

In addition to having many local servicemen fighting on the field of battle in Korea, this county also has its own special Navy ship in the fight.

It is the USS Pickaway, a Navy attack transport named for Pickaway County.

How and why this ship became Pickaway County's namesake remains a mystery. However, in reply to an inquiry into the background of the Pickaway, the office of Senator Robert Taft in Washington, D. C., wired:

"Replying your inquiry, (Navy) department states USS Pickaway named after Pickaway County, Ohio. Ship belonged to Maritime Commission and was acquired by Navy on Dec. 12, 1944. There was no Navy christening ceremony."

REGARDLESS of how and why the ship was named after this county, Pickaway Countians can feel honored that their namesake is doing a good job for them.

The USS Pickaway (APA-222) is now on her second tour of duty in the Far East since hostilities began in Korea in 1950.

Commanded by Captain Augustus R. St. Angelo, USN, the Pickaway left San Diego in November of 1951 for her second tour of duty in the war zone, where she is now operating in direct support of United Nations' fighting forces.

Her first Korean cruise began in July of 1950 when she lifted 1,500 Marines of the First Provisional Brigade to Pusan, Korea, and then spent a month preparing for the Inchon landings in September, 1950.

She arrived in Kobe, Japan, on September 2 and commenced loading troops and supplies preparatory to the landing. Leaving Kobe with 1,400 reinforcements for the hard hitting 1st Marine Division, she sailed for Pusan, where she loaded an additional 2,300 ROK Marines for the invasion.

After executing the landing with no casualties she returned to Pusan for 1,400 troops of the ROK 17th Army Regiment, who were landed at Inchon just nine days after the initial landing.

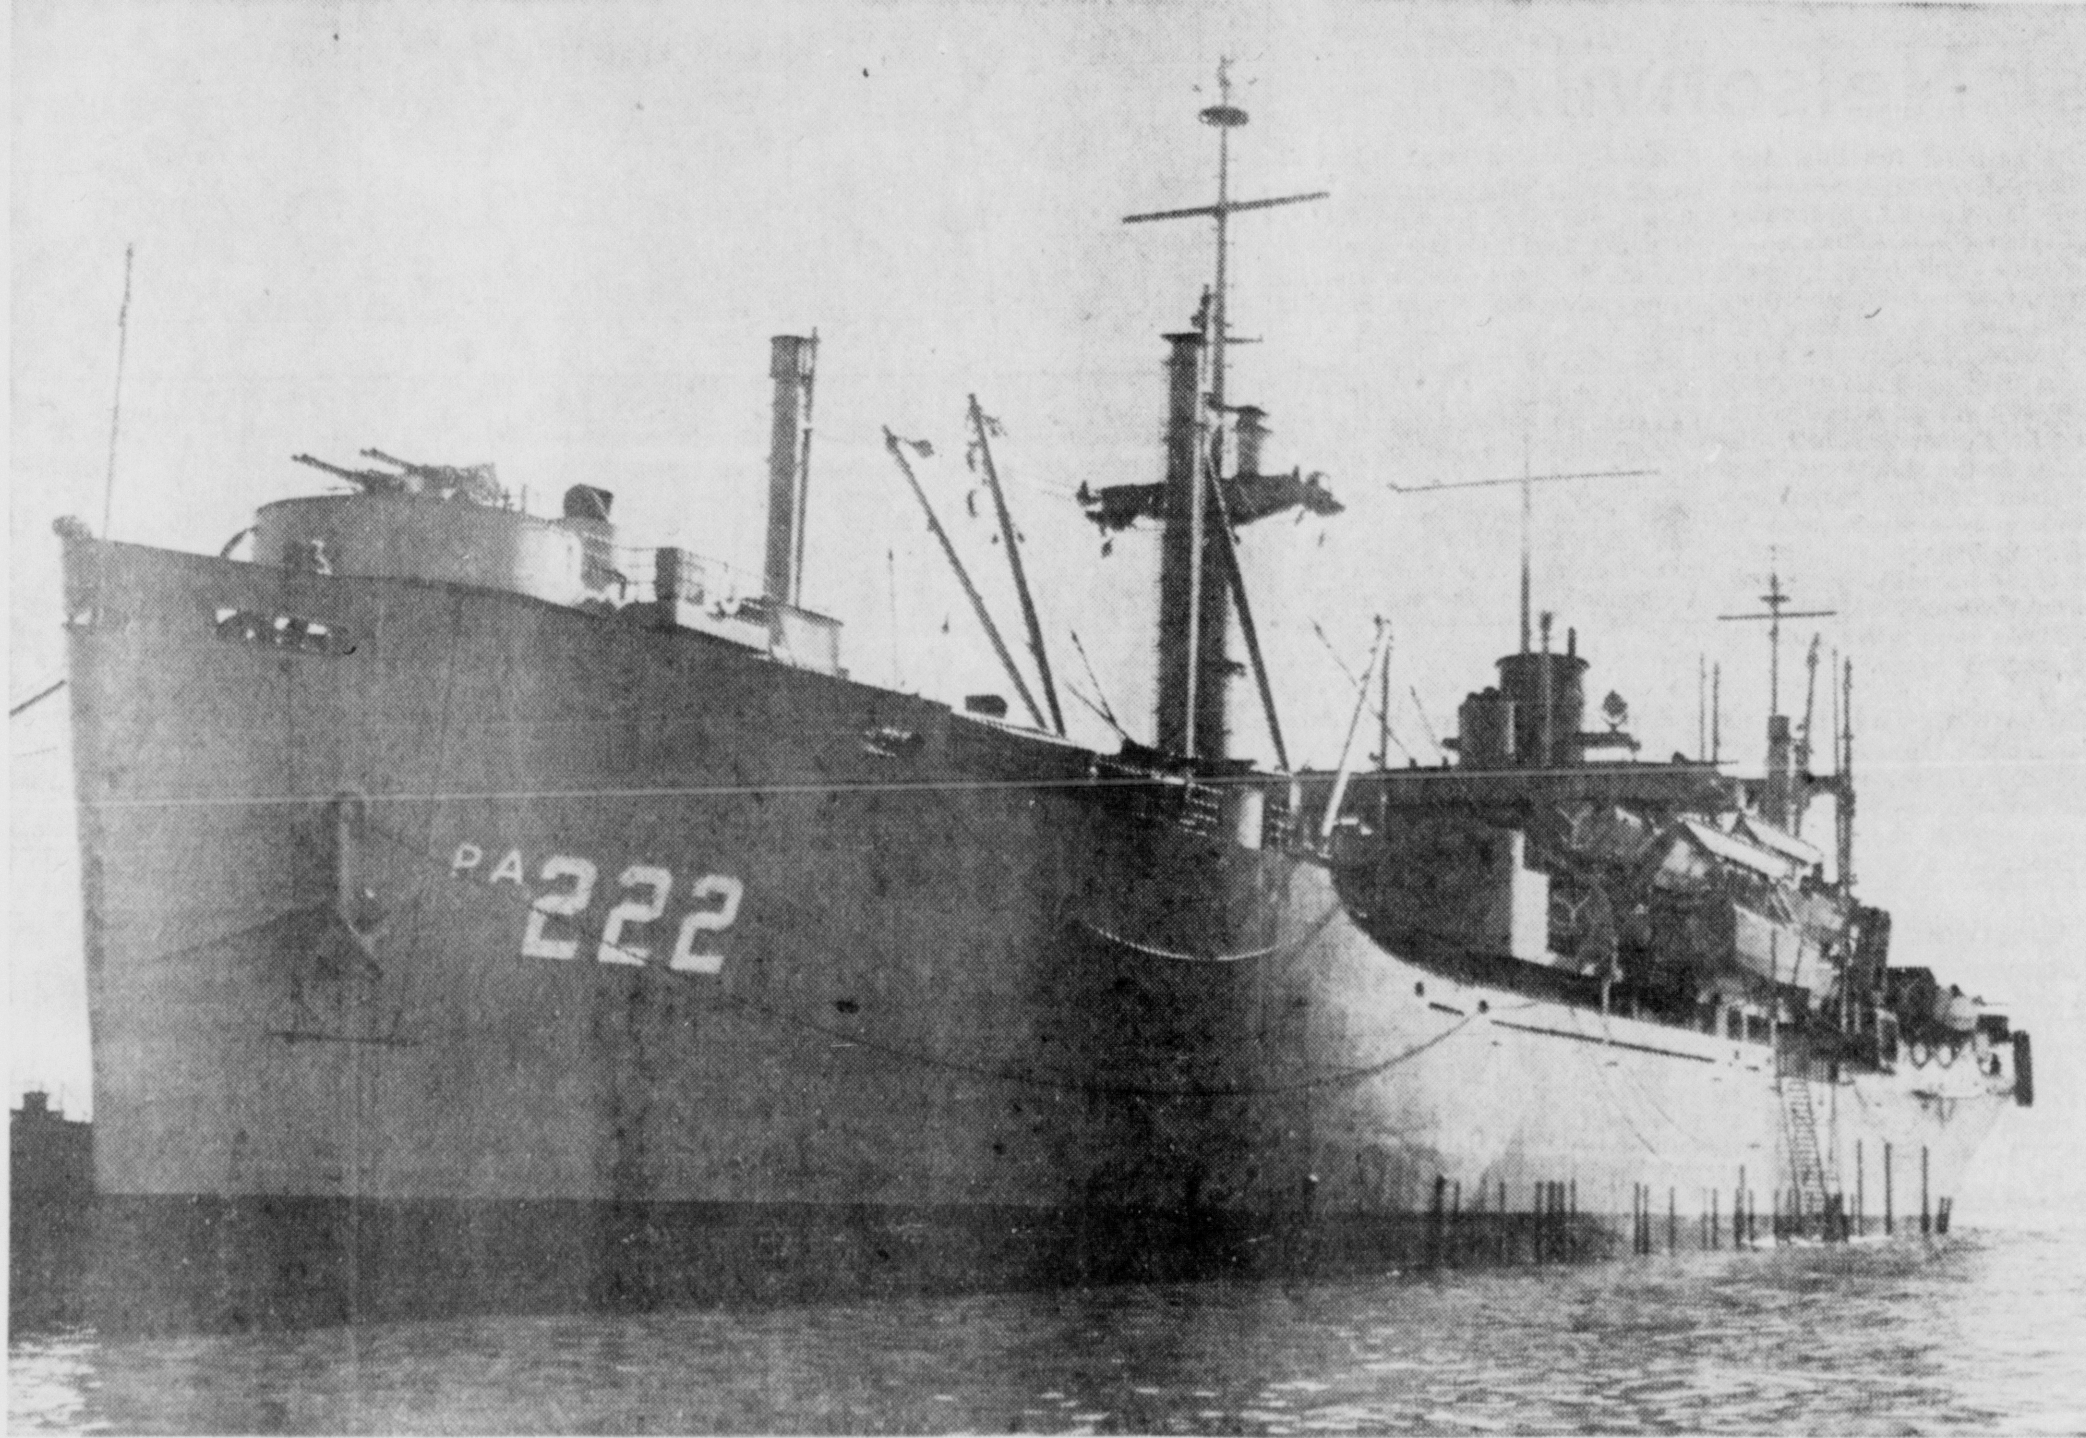

With the Inchon landing completed, the Pickaway returned to Japan and loaded 1,000 Marines and steamed to Wonsan, Korea, where they were landed after the mine fields had been cleared.

THEN IN NOVEMBER, with a shipyard overhaul period scheduled, she pointed her bow for the United States and a well deserved leave and upkeep period.

During World War II, although she saw no actual combat, the Pickaway chalked up many miles transporting both troops and equipment to almost every port in the South Pacific.

Commissioned in 1944, her first trip was from Seattle to Honolulu with 1,500 green troops. Her next assignment was the evacuation of the 24th Marine Regiment from Iwo Jima to Hawaii.

After training exercises in the

AT EASE DOCKSIDE on her second venture into Korean waters is Pickaway County's namesake, the USS Pickaway. Commissioned by the U. S. Navy in 1944, the Pickaway has played an important role in supporting troops in Far East—perhaps even carrying some local soldier into or safely away from the combat area. How and why the USS Pickaway got her name is a puzzle, but Pickaway Countians can feel proud they have a sturdy warrior bearing their name into the war zone.

Hawaiian Islands, she lifted personnel to Guam, Noumea, New Caledonia, Espiritos Santos, Russell Islands and Guadalcanal. After her third trip she returned to San Francisco, arriving in early August 1945.

On each of her last two trips the Pickaway lost two important days. She crossed the International Date Line, westbound, on both V-J and V-E days.

During this time she had made seven long trips across the Pacific covering some 50,000 miles and transporting approximately 10,000 troops.

During 1946 and 1947, she made several trips to the South Pacific and the Far East with both troops and equipment.

In 1948 she was assigned to the Pacific Fleet Amphibious Force, where she was employed in routine amphibious operations until the outbreak of hostilities in Korea.

Ohio Memorial Idea Shunned

WASHINGTON, March 22 — (AP) — A House Public Lands Subcommittee has pigeon-holed a bill to authorize construction of a memorial here to Ohio veterans of all wars. The bill would permit the Ohio Society of Washington to erect a shelter house in East Potomac Park. The measure was tabled after subcommittee members said they had no indication the memorial is wanted by state officials. It was sponsored by Rep. James Polk of the Sixth District.
